Dear Wisconsin National Guard Technician Employees and Family Members:

Enclosed you will find information about an important benefit available to you and your family that can make a difference in your life—the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) Services.

At one time or another, most of us will face a personal problem or family care issue that impacts the quality of our home life, relationships, health or ability to do our best at work. Most of the time, we can work these things out ourselves but, at times, we could benefit from some professional, objective guidance. Wisconsin National Guard has partnered with FEI Behavioral Health, a well-known and respected provider of EAP and Work-Life services. FEI has a network of counselors, located all across the country, to provide these services to you and your family when you need them.

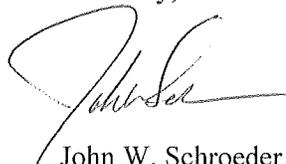

Help through your EAP is . . .

- a. Professional—You have access to highly skilled, licensed, professional counselors and work-life specialists at no cost to you.
- b. Convenient—Counselors with flexible hours are available near your home or workplace. Referrals for work-life services are also made to local resources.
- c. Confidential—Your right to privacy is fully protected by law and organizational policy. No one at work or outside of work will know if you use the EAP services.

Wisconsin National Guard is pleased to continue this service to you and your family. We have a new provider as of May 1, 2013. This program represents our commitment to making the Wisconsin National Guard a better place to work and to helping all of us achieve our full potential—both personally and professionally.

The enclosed brochure provides a detailed description of the EAP Services. We are confident that by calling the toll-free number 800.543.5485 or accessing the cobranded website www.feieap.com, (username: goguard) you will find the support and resources you need.

Sincerely,

John W. Schroeder
